

MILAN

Milan, the capital of Lombardy and the second largest city and financial heart of Italy, is renowned for its high fashion and design as well as for culture, cuisine and sports. For centuries, Milan has captured the interest of the world by its dynamism, creativity and innovation. The energy reflects the love of life its inhabitants have always offered to Europe and the world at large. While sauntering through the streets of Milan, visiting its museums and basilicas (Duomo and La Scala at first), or doing a spot of shopping, you will find yourself drawn into the special atmosphere of the city, sharing in its positivity and drive. Milan loves nothing better than a challenge and the EPH Conference will be no exception.

MILAN INTERNATIONAL EXPO 2015

The 8th EPH Conference coincides with the Milan International EXPO 2015, the largest exposition in the world (open 1 May to 31 October 2015). The theme 'Feeding the planet, energy for life' is closely related to public health, and attending Milan 2015 is a great opportunity to visit this important exhibition as well.

TRAVELLING

With three international airports (Malpensa Airport, Linate Airport and Bergamo Orio Al Serio), Milan is connected with more than 100 European cities. Also, Milan is comfortably accessible by train from many European cities. Over 10'000 hotel rooms, 1'000 restaurants and good public transport await you.

The EPH Conference is an initiative of the European Public Health Association (EUPHA), an international independent umbrella organisation for public health and health care associations and institutes in Europe. As the largest European scientific based network of public health professionals, EUPHA encourages a multidisciplinary, evidence-based health in all policies approach. EUPHA joins forces in order to be a collective European-wide voice advocating improvement of the public's health and health services.

Benvenuti a Milano

8th European Public Health Conference
14 – 17 October 2015
Milan, Italy

The theme for the 8th EPH Conference is Health in Europe - from global to local policies, methods and practices. This theme was chosen to encourage discussion on what the role of Europe is at global level and what the impact of global health issues is on European, national, regional and local level. In times of interdependence and interconnectedness at global level, a new vision of cooperative and democratic action at all levels of society is much needed. Through the plenary sessions, this new vision is further elaborated.

DATE AND VENUE

The 8th EPH Conference will be held from 14 to 17 October 2015 at the new Milano Congressi (MiCo), Milan, Italy. This Exhibition Center and Trade Fair complex right in the centre of Milan, is one of the largest and most modern venues in Europe.

LANGUAGE

The conference language will be English.

PLENARY SESSIONS

The five plenary sessions are organised on the following themes:

- 'Global public health: what is expected from Europe?', organised by the initiator of the conference EUPHA (European Public Health Association).
- 'Healthy people, healthy planet', organised by EuroHealthNet.
- 'Cross border health threats and health care', organised by the European Commission.
- 'Learning from each other, best practices at local level', organised by the European Observatory on Health Systems and Policies.
- 'The global public health professional', organised by ASPHER (Association of Schools of Public Health in the European Region).

CALL FOR ABSTRACTS

The parallel programme reflects on a wide array of public health issues and ways of solving these issues at global, European, national, regional and local level. The parallel programme is set up with single abstracts (oral, pitch, poster presentations) and workshops. Detailed instructions can be found as of 15 January on www.ehpconference.eu.

The EPH Conference aims to contribute to the improvement of public health in Europe by offering the means to exchange information and a platform for debate to researchers, policymakers, practitioners, young professionals and students in the field of public health, health services research and public health training and education. The conference has a global dimension, with participants from over 50 countries. It covers a broad range of health issues, has a high political relevance, a large involvement of European networks and organisations and attracts a major audience of public health professionals.

CONFERENCE FEES

Registration is possible for the full conference and pre-conferences. Daily registration is also an option. Registration fee includes conference documentation, refreshments, lunches and welcome reception. For students, SItl members and SItl conference delegates, special rates are applicable. Possibilities of funding (fellowships, travel grants) will be announced on the website.

EPH Conference delegates also have access to the 48th annual conference of the Italian Society of Hygiene, Preventive Medicine and Public Health (SItl), which is taking place at the same time. Several sessions of the SItl conference will be organised in English.

ACCOMMODATION

Accommodation has been pre-blocked in a number of hotels within walking distance of the conference venue. For booking information please visit www.ehpconference.eu.
